

Welty and the Craft of Writing

Through an award to the Eudora Welty Foundation from the National Endowment for the Arts with support from the Comcast Foundation, an exciting new resource for your classroom is now available.

A resource kit for secondary classrooms contains a DVD featuring rare films of Welty reading three of her most studied short stories—"A Worn Path," "Petrified Man," and "Why I Live at the P. O." The films also contain short interviews with Welty about her work. Each story segment is between 26 and 29 minutes long.

The kit also contains a companion interactive CD-ROM with manuscripts, correspondence, and photographs by Welty relating to each story. These materials, which are part of the Welty Collection at the Mississippi Department of Archives and History, give valuable context and insight into the creation of these stories. A Guide for Teachers with suggested questions for students is included.

The Guide for Teachers and other information about this project may also be found on the Eudora Welty Foundation website at www.eudorawelty.org, under "Resources."

To receive a kit, please complete the following information and mail it to:

Eudora Welty House Education and Visitors Center, 1109 Pinehurst Street, Jackson, MS 39202

Name: _____ Telephone Number: _____

E-mail: _____

School: _____ School Telephone: _____

School Address: _____

Courses/Grade Levels where kit will be used: _____

This copy of the Welty and the Craft of Writing Media Resource Kit will be sent to you at no cost thanks to a generous grant from the Feild Cooperative Association, Inc.